

CÉIM

SHARED LEARNING

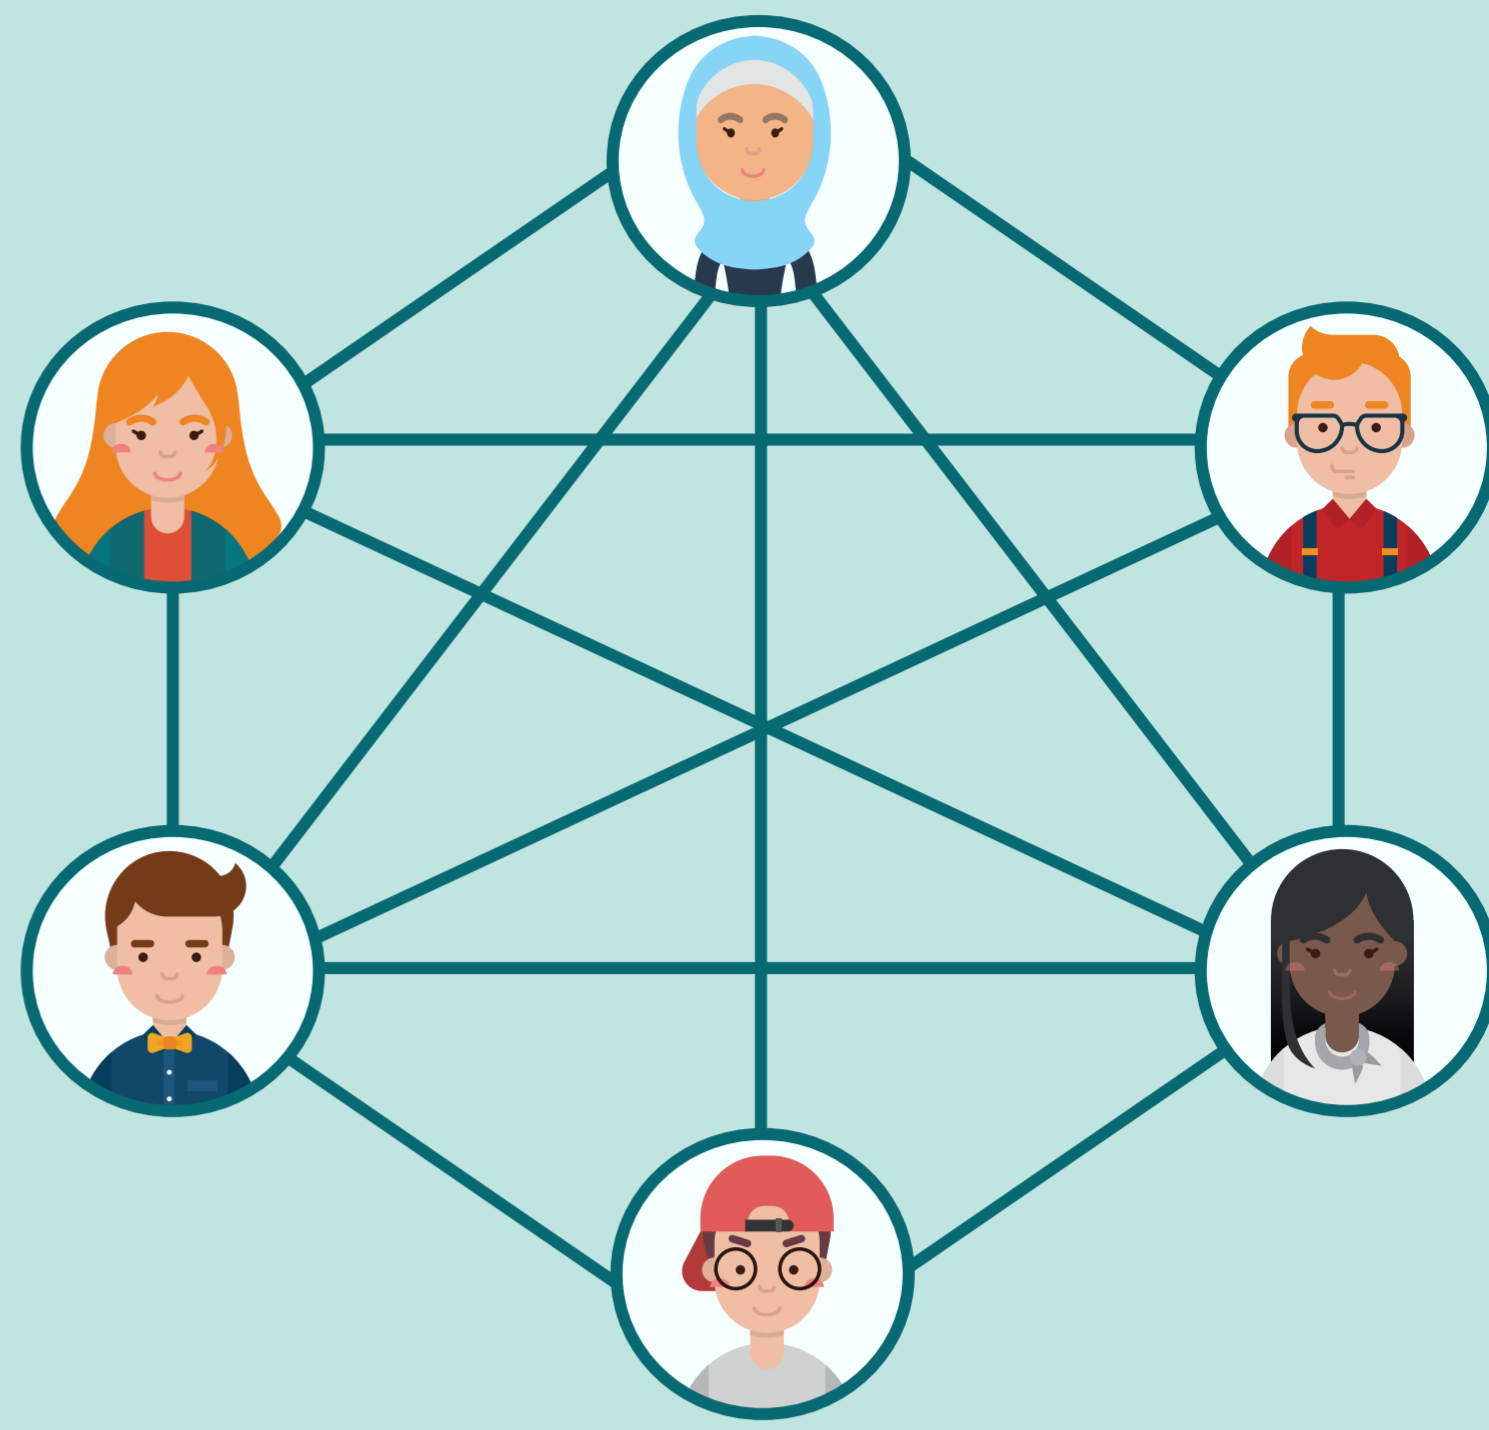

What is CÉIM?

Weekly meet ups with your fellow students

CÉIM* is a peer learning programme for 1st year students and is run as a partnership between students, the Students' Union and the University of Galway.

You'll meet weekly in small groups with students from your course and trained student leaders from higher years of your course. You'll be able to ask questions, take part in fun mini activities, discuss coursework and learn together.

The content of CÉIM sessions is entirely student led!

* CÉIM means 'step' or 'degree' in Irish

Available to 1st year students studying:

Project & Construction Management, Engineering, Geography, Hotel Management, Law (all programmes), Political Science & Sociology, Psychology, Science, Spanish

How do I take part in CÉIM?

Log into YourSpace to see all your CÉIM details

If CÉIM is available for your course, you'll automatically be assigned to a CÉIM group. A few days before your CÉIM sessions are due to start, log into YourSpace to see all relevant information about your CÉIM group. If you have any queries, email su.ceim@universityofgalway.ie
